1.The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1, 14 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Azuma (see Comparative Example 6, column 17, lines 38-45).

Comparative example 6 of Azuma discloses the instant method of dissolving nitrogen gas in a resin and injecting same into a mold to make a light conducting (guide) plate.

Instant claims 14 and 15 are submitted to be inherent since the same process is being performed.

2.The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 2-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Azuma generally for reasons of record as set forth in paragraph 5 of the previous action. Instant claims 11 and 12 are submitted to have been an obvious material selection and property therefore, respectively, over the cyclic olefin polymer used in Comparative Example 6.

3.Applicant's arguments filed June 8, 2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant submits that the instant claims as amended would not be anticipated by Azuma. However, a close review of the patent reveals that instant claim 1 is already disclosed in a comparative example therein and instant claims 14 and 15 would be inherent therefrom.

4.Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
